WILSON TAKES THE OATH

THOUSANDS ROAR GREAT WELCOME TO NEW LEADERS OF THE NATION

Wild Over Wilson, Marshall Too.

PARADE IS BEST YET.

Many New Wrinkles in Inaugural Pageant

New President Sworn in Before Cheering Throngs by Chief Justice White and Delivers Simple Address—Wild and Jubilant Crowds Line Pennsylvania Avenue; Jam Stands, Dot Windows and Lean Over Roofs as Elaborate Procession Passes—Wilson Family Holds Reunion.

Washington, March 4.—In the presence of the biggest crowd that ever packed and jammed itself into the great plaza at the east end of the capitol, surrounded by high civil and military dignitaries, diplomats and statesmen of his own and foreign countries, Woodrow Wilson, erstwhile governor of New Jersey and president elect, today took the oath of office that made him the twenty-eighth president of the United States.

Less than an hour before, with solemn ceremonial, Thomas R. Marshall, the vice president elect, had been inducted into his office in the senate chamber before the members of both houses. Somewhat earlier still President Taft, the president and vice president elect, with their respective guards of honor, the Essex troop of Newark, N. J., and the Culver Black Horse troop of Indiana, had swept down Pennsylvania avenue on their way to the capitol between rows of cheering, shouting thousands.

Before that and harking back to the dim and distant yesterday, the president elect's entry was a triumphal one, the pent up Democratic enthusiasm of sixteen years, concentrating seemingly at the gateway of the nation's capital and bursting forth in a joyful acclaim.

Through a lane of Princeton university students and surrounded by cheering thousands the president elect and members of his family were hastened from the station, escorted by an official reception committee, to their hotel.

First Enters White House.

Within less than two hours after his arrival Mr. Wilson for the first time in his life crossed the threshold of the White House and grasped the hand of President Taft.

With Mrs. Wilson, the president elect was escorted to the White House by Colonel Spencer Cosby. The president and Mrs. Taft awaited their coming and extended them their cordial greetings and the keys to the home of presidents.

First, however, immediately after their arrival at the hotel, the president elect, Mrs. Wilson and their daughters joined in an informal reunion with other members of the family, who had gathered from different parts of the country.

Last night, as an alumnus of Princeton university, the man who is to guide the destinies of the nation was the honor guest of the alumni of his alma mater at a smoker.

Yet all the receptions and formal speechmaking that went before, just as the White House luncheon and great military pageant that followed, were but the setting of the principal scene, the background of the event which will make the history of this country for four years to come.

Crowds Gather Early.

Soon after daybreak this morning the crowds began to gather along Pennsylvania avenue and in front of the great platform that had been erected for the inaugural exercises at the eastern end of the capitol. Long before noon every available inch of space was taken.

Points of vantage, which in ordinary times would be deemed precarious even for a sparrow, were preempted by youngsters willing to risk the loss of a limb or worse for the chance of seeing a president of the United States inaugurated. Nor was their enthusiasm dampened by delay.

As the august procession, which precedes the inaugural ceremony, filed out of the capitol and wound its way across the platform a hush fell over the crowd. Mechanically many uncovered their heads.

The sergeant-at-arms of the senate and house, followed by the marshal of the supreme court and the marshal of the District of Columbia, made up the vanguard of the procession of high dignitaries. Behind these last came Chief Justice Edward D. White of the supreme court, whose duty it was to administer the oath of office to the president elect, and the associate justices followed by the committee on arrangements.

Then came the president and the president elect, and at their rear a distinguished following of ambassadors, governors and other dignitaries. In leading the newly sworn vice president.

Chief Justice Administers Oath.

When the procession paused every ear strained attention to catch the words that would usher into the chair of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln the first Democrat to gain that high place in a score of years.

Solemnly and distinctly, though most of the waiting thousands hanging on the event of his words could not ever see the motion of his lips, the chief justice administered the oath of office to the president elect.

An instant the waiting host stood silent. Then it became a shrieking, leaping mob, roaring a pandemoniac welcome to the nation's new executive and all but smothering the saluting cannon which first gave notice that a new president had been inaugurated and a new administration began.

From the crowd in the square and on the platform the other massed multitudes that lined the broad sides of Pennsylvania avenue took their cue and it was many minutes before President Wilson could begin his brief inaugural address. Even then so great was the clamor that only those nearest to him could distinguish what he said.

Returns to Executive Mansion.

Immediately after the address was finished President Wilson, accompanied by the ex-president, hastened to the Pennsylvania avenue side of the capitol, where carriages awaited to take the party to the luncheon in the executive mansion.

VICE PRESIDENT MARSHALL.

fully turned over the suzerainty that Shoreham, where he stopped last night, to escort him to the White House.

A similar delegation waited upon Vice President elect Marshall at the same hotel, where the new vice president will make his home during the coming months.

At the executive mansion the incoming president and vice president were greeted by Mr. Taft, and a few minutes later the fateful ride to the capitol was begun. The president and president elect occupied the first carriage with two members of the congressional committee.

In the carriage following were Vice President elect Marshall and three members of the committee, there being no retiring vice president. After them strung along the carriages of a host of cabinet officers and other high dignitaries of military and civil rank.

On the way to the capitol President Taft occupied the seat on the right side of the carriage, this position being reversed after the inaugural ceremony and the new president having the seat of honor on their return to the executive mansion.

Arrived at the senate wing of the capitol, the president and president elect went at once to the president's room. Vice President elect Marshall repaired to the vice president's chamber.

Short Delay Occurs.

Here there was a short delay owing to some hitch in the proceedings, but it was soon over. The committee on arrangements waited on the president and president elect and escorted them to the senate chamber, where they were given seats reserved for them in front of the vice president's desk.

The same committee also escorted the vice president elect to the senate chamber, where the members of the house and of the supreme court were already seated.

Then on the eve of the senate's adjournment the president pro tempore administered the oath that made Governor Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana vice president of the United States. Immediately thereafter the senate adjourned after a prayer by the chaplain.

Following the adjournment Vice President Marshall delivered his inaugural address, after which he administered the oath of office to the senators elect.

At the conclusion of these impressive ceremonies within the senate chamber all those assembled there formed a procession, marching through the rotunda of the capitol to the platform at the east end of the building, where the big event of the day, the actual swearing in of the president elect, was to take place.

The Great Parade.

Next to this great event, so essential to the rest of today's celebration, the

BONDS CARRIED AT ELMO.

At Election Held Monday, Voters Were in Favor of Bonding the Town For Light Plant.

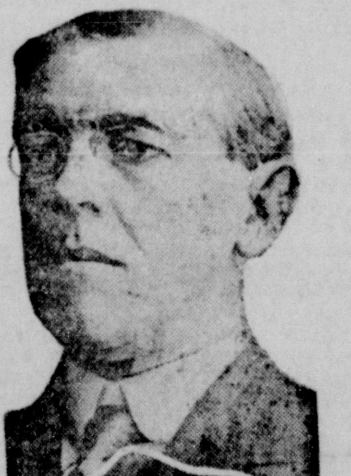

The electric light bond proposition at Elmo carried at an election held Monday in that town. The total vote cast was 75, 59 votes for the proposition, 18 against, and one vote being thrown out.

The bond issue is for $3,000 for the purpose of having an electric light plant at Elmo.

The present plant at Elmo will be purchased if it can be had for a reasonable price, but in case it can't be, then the citizens of that town intend to put in an up-to-date plant. The plant at Elmo was put in by Joe Younger.

IT IS NOT SO BAD

COUNTY COURT THINKS GRAND JURY REPORT OVERDRAWN.

One Member of Court Says Report May Never Be Taken Up Officially—Home in Good Condition.

Members of the county court, Judges J. G. Thornhill, Floyd Westfall and E. T. Bailey, made an inspection trip to the county farm Tuesday morning to see if the conditions at that institution are as bad as they are said to have been by the report of the recent grand jury, which was filed several days ago.

The grand jury report has not as yet been certified to the county court, but a copy of their report will be sent to them on Wednesday, according to Circuit Clerk Rathbun.

Members of the county court said Tuesday that they did not find conditions as bad as had been pictured and stated by the grand jury. They found everything at the county home in a good condition, and just as good as could be had under the circumstances.

The court does not intend to consider the grand jury report as to the county home, as they seem to be well satisfied with the running affairs of that institution.

As one member of the court said Tuesday morning, when asked if the grand jury report would be taken up at this term, replied:

"No, and probably never."

The county court Tuesday afternoon was making settlements with the various township collectors over the county. Only two collectors' reports had been approved by the court, and they were Atchison and Hopkins.

REPORTED ADVERSELY.

The County Unit Bill Received Unfavorable Report From Committee—"Drys" Won't Give Up.

Jefferson City, March 4.—The "wets" won the first round in one of the most important fights for prohibition Missouri has known, when the senate committee on criminal jurisprudence reported adversely Monday night the Craig county unit bill. The vote of the committee stood 4 to 4, and one member of the committee did not vote. The county unit bill has passed the house by a vote of 9 to 45.

The committee then voted to recommend for passage the bill introduced by Senator Hawkins, which exempts towns of more than 4,000 population from voting with the counties in local option elections. As the law now is, it exempts towns of 2,500 or more. The Hawkins bill would only affect eight towns at the present time in the state, it is said. The bill would not affect Maryville at all, as the population here is over 4,000, the situation in this town would remain the same as it is now. Maryville voting separately from the rest of the county.

The "drys" plan to reopen the fight today. When the senate meets, Senator Anderson Craig of Maryville will move to place the county unit bill on the calendar of the senate, despite the adverse report of the committee, and make it a special order for next Tuesday.

The "wets," flushed over their draw victory before the committee, are certain to oppose this. They will try to prevent the bill going on the calendar. This will furnish doubtful senators an opportunity to vote to sustain the action of the committee without going on the roll as voting against county unit. It gives the "wets" a tactical advantage, but so tight has been drawn the issue between the bills that a vote for practically any amendment to the county unit bill or against giving it a hearing before the entire committee will be regarded as a "wet" vote.

The county unit bill, the object of all the contention, provides that the counties must vote as units on local option elections. The "drys" assert and the "wets" concede that it would make practically all of Missouri dry except Kansas City, St. Joseph and St. Louis, including Springfield and Joplin.

Mrs. A. W. Goff and children of Bedford, Ia., and her sister, Mrs. Alta Hills of Blanchard, Ia., were in Maryville Tuesday on their way to Bedford.

Miss Edith Davenport spent Sunday in St. Joseph with her uncle, A. W. Davenport and family.

Shirley Irwin of U. S. Naval Service is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Fordyce.

Mrs. E. J. Gee of Burlington Junction and her guest, Shirley Irwin of the U. S. S. Albany, arrived in Maryville Tuesday and are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Fordyce, on North Market street. Mr. Irwin completed eight years service in the U. S. navy three months ago, and will again enlist the 26th of this month. He has seen much service, was with the American troops in China during the recent revolution.

Mr. Irwin was on the same warship with Frank David, a brother of Mrs. S. T. Gile and Mrs. J. H. Anderson of this city.

New Feature Will Be Great Convenience—Postmaster Says More Mail Is Sent Away Than Received.

The C. O. D. feature will be added to the parcel post service July 1, according to an order received at the Maryville postoffice. The new feature will not apply to amounts over $100. A flat rate of 10 cents to cover the cost of collection will be charged the sender whenever collection upon delivery is desired.

The new feature will add little to the competitive value of the system against the competition of the express companies. Most of the latter charge nothing for collection on delivery of sums up to $50. Over that amount 10 cents is charged for every $100 collected.

It would cost a farmer or a merchant 10 cents plus the postage to send a 10-cent package C. O. D. parcel post.

Orders were received at the Maryville postoffice to place goods sent by parcel post on the special delivery list. This will be a great convenience, as up to now only first class mail has been eligible for special delivery. Perishable goods will be delivered on Sunday and many will avail themselves of the parcel post. The postage will have to be of two kinds, the parcel post stamps, however ordinary postage stamps may be used to pay the special delivery fee if the fact that they are to pay for the special is written on the wrapper.

Postmaster Beech says that locally the outgoing parcel post far exceeds the incoming. This shows that the people of Maryville are taking advantage of the convenience of sending goods by mail, and also is an argument for the advantage to be gained by merchants who can thus deliver goods very rapidly to customers anywhere in this part of the country.

Clevia and John Alexander of Pickering were guests in Maryville Sunday of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gray, and their cousin, Miss Roine Gray, who is attending school here.

Mrs. F. M. Roseberry of Hopkins was a Maryville visitor Saturday.

DIVORCE SUIT OF MRS. BERNARD MUSE ON TRIAL IN CIRCUIT COURT.

L. HENRY NOT GUILTY

Acquittal for Man Charged With Grand Larceny—Anna Miller Gets New Trial—Bernard Muse on Bond.

The divorce case of Maggie M. Reeder against Albert E. Reeder is on trial today before Judge W. C. Ellison in circuit court. The case is being contested by the defendant, who is represented by S. E. Browne of Hopkins and John M. Dawson—Shinabargar, Blagg & Ellison are the attorneys for Mrs. Reeder.

They were married in Nodaway county on November 24, 1885, and they have lived continuously together until this year, with the exception of nine months in 1886, when the defendant deserted her, according to the petition. The plaintiff, in her petition, charges ill treatment and false accusations.

There are about forty witnesses in the case from Hopkins.

The jury in the case of Lewis Henry, charged with grand larceny, returned a verdict Tuesday morning, after being out a short time, of not guilty for Henry. The jury in the case was composed by P. D. Porter, W. R. Hughes, Frank Tarpley, Roland Moss, L. O. Gulsinger, Charles Yahrmark, Oliver Tudder, Z. W. Harris, George Hepburn, Joe Rogers, Robert Sawyers and Lowell Campbell.

Motion for new trial was sustained by the court in the case of Anna Miller, administratrix of the estate of John H. Miller vs. Allen Bros. The case is set for the third Thursday of court.

The gaming cases of Bruce Johnson and Robert Rice were continued by agreement.

Ball for Bernard Muse of Parnell, who is now in the county jail, having been indicted by the grand jury on a charge of running a gaming house, on a charge of gaming, and on two charges of violating the local option laws, was fixed at $200 on each charge.

TO INCORPORATE FOR $10,000.

Farmers' Phone Users to Vote Saturday on Proposition at the Court House.

The Farmers Telephone company's committee, named for the purpose of drawing up a constitution and by-laws under which the company could incorporate, has prepared its report and will be ready to lay the results of its labors before the meeting Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the court house. Incorporation will probably be voted on then.

The committee is composed of Fred L. Armstrong, Lewis E. White and A. J. Croy.

The constitution and by-laws provide that the company shall be incorporated for $10,000, that one share of $10 each shall be issued to each phone owner, and that one person may own only five phones. Each share carries one vote. Every shareholder shall sign the constitution, and when new lines are built a share is issued to the phoneholders as soon as the drop on the switchboard is paid for.

Under the new constitution the company would be empowered to rent phones. The directors would be in charge of the management of the switchboard, and would repair all lines after a notice to repair had been ignored for forty-eight hours. The board is allowed to incur a deficit of only $500 before the stockholders are called together to meet the obligations. Special assessments may be made only at the annual meetings or at special meetings called for that purpose.

Death Near Guilford.

Mrs. W. M. Joslin, living three and a half miles northeast of Guilford, died at 3 o'clock Monday morning from a stroke of paralysis she was stricken with on Sunday. No funeral arrangements have been made. Mrs. Joslin was 54 years old the 29th day of October last. She was a native of Gentry county, but had lived in Nodaway county twenty-five years. She is survived by three children, Lela May Joslin, Clarence Vernon Joslin and Victor Ballenger.

WILSON'S VIEWS GIVEN TO NATION

Inaugural Address of the New President.

DEFINES PEOPLE'S DUTY.

First Obligation of Law is to Keep Society Sound by Sanitary and Pure Food Statutes and Measures Determining Conditions of Labor—Task Not Merely One of Politics.Washington, March 4.—The inaugural address of President Woodrow Wilson is as follows:

There has been a change of government. It began two years ago, when the house of representatives became Democratic by a decisive majority. It has now been completed. The senate about to assemble will also be Democratic. The offices of president and vice president have been put into the hands of Democrats. What does the change mean? That is the question that is uppermost in our minds today.
That is the question I am going to try to answer, in order, if I may, to interpret the occasion.

It means much more than the mere success of a party. The success of a party means little except when the nation is using that party for a large and definite purpose. No one can mistake the purpose for which the nation now seeks to use the Democratic party.
It seeks to use it to interpret a change in its own plans and point of view.
Some old things with which we had grown familiar and which had begun to creep into the very habit of our thought and of our lives have altered their aspect as we have latterly looked critically upon them with fresh, awakened eyes; have dropped their disguises and shown themselves alien and sinister. Some new things as we look frankly upon them, willing to comprehend their real character, have come to assume the aspect of things long believed in and familiar, stuff of our own convictions. We have been refreshed by a new insight into our own life.

Our Model Government.
We see that in many things life is very great. It is incomparably great in its material aspects, in its body of wealth, in the diversity and sweep of its energy, in the industries which have been conceived and built up by the genius of individual men and the unflinching enterprise of groups of men.
It is great also, very great, in its moral force. Nowhere else in the world have noble men and women exhibited in more striking forms the beauty and the energy of sympathy and helpfulness and counsel in their efforts to rectify wrong, alleviate suffering and set the weak in the way of strength and hope. We have built up, moreover,
a great system of government, which has stood through a long age as in many respects a model for those who seek to set liberty upon foundations that will endure against fortuitous change, against storm and accident.
Our life contains every great thing and contains it in rich abundance.

But the evil has come with the good,
and much fine gold has been corroded.
With riches has come inexcusable waste. We have squandered a great part of what we might have used and have not stopped to conserve the exceeding bounty of nature without which our genius for enterprise would have been worthless and impotent, scurrying to be careful, shamefully prodigal as well as admirably efficient.
We have been proud of our industrial achievements, but we have not hitherto stopped thoughtfully enough to count the human cost, the cost of lives snuffed out, of energies overtaxed and broken, the fearful physical and spiritual cost to the men and women and children upon whom the dead weight and burden of it all has fallen pitiless-ly by the years through. The groans and agony of it all had not yet reached our ears, the solemn, moving under-tone of our life, coming up out of the mines and factories and out of every home where the struggle had its intimate and familiar seat. With the great government went many deep secret things which we too long delayed to look into and scrutinize with candid, fearless eyes. The great government we loved has too often been made use of for private and selfish purposes, and those who used it had forgotten the people.

Duty of Americans Outlined.
At last a vision has been roused of our life as a whole. We see the bad with the good, the debased and decadent with the sound and vital.
With this vision we approach new affairs. Our duty is to cleanse, to reconsider, to restore, to correct the evil without impairing the good, to purify and humanize every process of our common life without weakening or sentimentalizing it. There has been something crude and heartless and unfeeling in our haste to succeed and be great. Our thought has been, "Let every man look out for himself; let every generation look out for itself," while we reared giant machinery which made it impossible that any but those who stood at the levers of control should have a chance to look out for themselves. We had not forgotten our morals. We remembered well enough that we had set up a policy which was meant to serve the humblest as well as the most powerful, with an eye single to the standards of justice and fair play, and remembered it with pride.

But we were very heedless and in a hurry to be great.

We have come now to the sober second thought. The scales of heedlessness have fallen from our eyes. We have made up our minds to square every process of our national life again with the standards we so proudly set up at the beginning and have always carried at our hearts. Our work is a work of restoration.

Things to Be Accomplished.
We have itemized with some degree of particularity the things that ought to be altered, and here are some of the chief items. A tariff which cuts us off from our proper part in the commerce of the world, violates the just principles of taxation and makes the government a facile instrument in the hands of private interests; a banking and currency system based upon the necessity of the government to sell its bonds fifty years ago and perfectly adapted to concentrating cash and restricting credits; an industrial system which, take it on all its sides, financial as well as administrative, holds capital in leading strings, restricts the liberties and limits the opportunities of labor and exploits without renewing or conserving the natural resources of the country; a body of agricultural activities never yet given the efficiency of great business undertakings or served as it should be through the instrumentality of science taken directly to the farm or afforded the facilities of credit best suited to its practical needs; watercourses undeveloped, waste places un-reclaimed, forests untended, fast disappearing without plan or prospect of renewal, unregarded waste heaps at every mine. We have studied as perhaps no other nation has the most effective means of production, but we have not studied cost or economy as we should either as organizers of industry, as statesmen or as individuals.

Society's Duty to Itself.
Nor have we studied and perfected the means by which government may be put at the service of humanity in safeguarding the health of the nation, the health of its men and its women and its children, as well as their rights in the struggle for existence. This is no sentimental duty. The firm basis of government is justice, not pity.
These are matters of justice. There can be no equality or opportunity, the first essential of justice in the body politic, if men and women and children be not shielded in their lives, their very vitality, from the consequences of great industrial and social processes which they cannot alter, control or singly cope with. Society must see to it that it does not itself crush or weaken or damage its own constituent parts. The first duty of law is to keep sound the society it serves. Sanitary laws, pure food laws and laws determining conditions of labor which individuals are powerless to determine for themselves are intimate parts of the very business of justice and legal efficiency.

These are some of the things we ought to do and not leave the others undone, the old fashioned, never to be neglected, fundamental safeguarding of property and of individual right.
This is the high enterprise of the new day: To lift everything that concerns our life as a nation to the light that shines from the hearth fire of every man's conscience and vision of the right. It is inconceivable we should do this as partisans; it is inconceivable we should do it in ignorance of the facts as they are or in blind haste. We shall restore, not destroy. We shall deal with our economic system as it is and as it may be modified, not as it might be if we had a clean sheet of paper to write upon, and step by step we shall make it what it should be, in the spirit of those who question their own wisdom and seek counsel and knowledge, not shallow self satisfaction or the excitement of excursions whither they cannot tell. Justice, and only justice, shall always be our motto.

Task Not Merely One of Politics.
And yet it will be no cool process of mere science. The nation has been deeply stirred—stirred by a solemn passion, stirred by the knowledge of wrong, of ideals lost, of government too often debauched and made an instrument of evil. The feelings with which we face this new age of right and opportunity sweep across our heartstrings like some air out of God's own presence, where justice and mercy are reconciled and the judge and the brother are one. We know our task to be no mere task of politics, but a task which shall search us through and through, whether we be able to understand our time and the need of our people, whether we be indeed their spokesmen and interpreters, whether we have the pure heart to comprehend and the rectified will to choose our high course of action.

This is not a day of triumph; it is a day of dedication. Here must not the forces of party, but the forces of humanity. Men's hearts wait upon us; men's lives hang in the balance; men's hopes call upon us to say what we will do. Who shall live up to the great trust? Who dares fail to try? I summon all honest men, all patriotic, all forward looking men, to my side. God helping me, I will not fail them if they will but counsel and sustain me.

The Drama of London's Fog.
There is a whole world of drama bound up in the chronicles of London's fog. This misty and mysterious visitant, far older than Gog or Magog, which used to visit the watches of the night when the metropolis barely lifted itself out of the surrounding marshes, has a fund of comedy as well as tragedy. Countless murders have been committed under its sheltering cloak, men and women have been waylaid, children have been torn from their mothers and wives from their husbands. —LONDON STAFF.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and restoring the balance in doing its work. The proprietors have been so successful in its cure that they have been obliged to pay out of their pockets more than one hundred dollars for any case that it failed to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

great military and civic pageant, this afternoon holds the public's interest.
Considered purely from a spectacular viewpoint, it is not only by far the biggest feature of the inauguration, but in many respects surpasses anything that Washington has seen in a long series of inaugural spectacles.

The decorations also are unique and attractive in character. Pennsylvania avenue from end to end of the line of march gleams with green and white, the color scheme adopted by the city officials.

The stand where the president is now reviewing the parade, erected on the White House grounds, follows out the same general decorative idea, though here the architect has chosen to weave into the stand's design the characteristics of Mount Vernon, the ancient home of the first president, and of Monticello, the homestead of the patron saint of Democracy, Thomas Jefferson.

The luncheon at the executive mansion was only about half over when the parade started.

President in Reviewing Stand.
The head of the first grand division was almost abreast of the White House when President Wilson first showed himself in the glassed in section of the reviewing stand that had been reserved for him. His appearance was the signal for a wave of applause that swept all before it, drowning the music of the bands as it rolled toward the capitol.

Soon after the cheering that greeted the president's entrance to the reviewing stand died away far down the avenue arose another tumult that contained a deeper note.

Swiftly the swelling voices rolled nearer, reaching the stand and passed onward and then far down the avenue there came into view the faded blue uniforms of the Grand Army of the Republic.

They were only a handful of the host that tramped down the same avenue nearly fifty years ago in the grand review before President Lincoln, and they did not step forward with the snap and elasticity that they did in the bright spring sunshine of 1865.

There were many in the crowd who stopped cheering as the veterans of 1861-65 passed by, and turned away their heads. Even the president, as he contained himself, was visibly affected. He was seen to swallow hard several times and once he turned away to wipe his glasses, which seemed suddenly to have become misty.

General Wood Grand Marshal.
According to Major General Leonard Wood, U. S. A., chief of staff and grand marshal of the parade, the regular army section of it was a model for other nations to copy. Certainly it was one of the most impressive features of the whole spectacle, if regarded from the standpoint of military efficiency and smartness.

The first grand division of the parade, which included this section, was composed of the regular naval and military forces and was under the direct command of Major General W.
W. Wotherspoon, U. S. A. In it marched picked men of the army navy and marine corps.

The West Point cadets, in their smart gray uniforms, and the midshipmen from the naval academy at Annapolis, the best drilled corps in the country, from whence will come our future generals and admirals, were also a feature of this division.

Next in line came the militia division, headed by the national guard
General Albert D. Mills, U. S. A., commanding. Practically the entire national guard of New Jersey was in line in this division.

Other states that were represented were Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Maryland, Virginia, Georgia, Maine
and North Carolina.

Military Schools Represented.
Here also the cadets of the various military schools of the country marched, among them the cadets from the Virginia Military institute, the Culver Military academy, the Carlisle Indian school, Purdue university, the Citadel cadets and the Georgia Military academy.

The third division was made up of the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Union Veterans union, the Spanish War Veterans and various other patriotic organizations. In command was General James E. Stuart of Chicago, a veteran of both the civil and Spanish wars.

Chief Marshal Robert N. Harper, chairman of the committee on civic organizations, led the fourth grand division, which was composed of various civic organizations, mostly political from all parts of the country.

One feature of this division was a band of American Indians dressed in the costume of their ancestors. Another was the Princeton students, who escorted the president from his home to this city. They headed the college men's section of the parade.

All along the line of march boy scouts were stationed, ready to render first aid services to any of the crowd or marchers who might be injured.
Tonight there will be a big fireworks display.

Filing of Anti-Trust Suit Checks Adding Machine Company.

Detroit, March 4.—A civil anti-trust suit filed here by order of Attorney General Wickersham, charging the Burrhoughs Adding Machine company with monopolizing interstate and foreign trade in adding machines and appliances, was followed immediately by the entry of an agreed decree terminating alleged unfair practices to stifle

No Headache, Biliousness, Upset Stomach, Lazy Liver or Constipated Bowels by Morning.

Are you keeping your bowels, liver and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway through these alimentary or drainage organs every few days with salts, cathartic pills, castor oil or purgative waters.

Stop having a bowel washday. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have headache, biliousness, coated tongue, indigestion, sour stomach or constipated bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.—Advertisement.

NO NEWS FROM THE BAND.

If They Lead the Parade in Washington Monday They Had an Interesting Time.

Not a word has been received in Maryville since the arrival of the Missouri Ladies Military band in Washington, D. C., on Monday morning. The families of the girls in this city have been anxiously waiting for some word from them, especially since the morning papers were received.

If dispatches are not overdrawn concerning the suffragette parade in Washington Monday afternoon, the Maryville girls certainly had the time of their lives. These reports say that 5,000 women marched in the parade and practically fought their way, foot by foot, up Pennsylvania avenue through a surging mob that defied the police, swamped the marchers and broke their procession up in little companies. Troops of cavalry from Ft. Meyer were rushed into Washington to take charge of Pennsylvania avenue, and the reports further said that no inauguration has produced such a scene, that at times amounted to riot.

St. Louis papers say that the Missouri Ladies Military band of Maryville, Mo., had been chosen to lead the suffragette parade from a field of eleven bands.

The band is expected to leave Washington Wednesday evening and will reach Maryville Friday morning.

Young Men and Women Wanted.

The parcels post law, which went into effect January 1st, will require many additional men and women between the ages of 18 and 45 for railway mail clerks, city and rural carriers and postoffice clerks. Short hours. Pay twice a month. Average salary better than $100 a month. Those desiring appointments should call on Mr. John E. Shannon on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th, at the Linville hotel.—Adv.

Guests From California.

Mrs. W. D. Winslow and daughter, Miss Dorothy Winslow, of Santa Clara, Cal., arrived Monday noon on a visit to Mrs. Winslow's mother and sister, Mrs. Marguerite Curfman and Miss Katherine Curfman, and her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Colby.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Baumli of near Arkoe wish to express their sincere gratitude to their friends and neighbors for their assistance and many acts of kindness during the sickness and at the death of their little daughter, Lucile.

Rev. Mother John is Better.

Sister Joseph and Sister Anselma of Clyde Benedictine convent went to Savannah Tuesday morning. They report the Rev. Mother John improving as rapidly as possible from her severe injury of a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Frank Hinton of Pickering, who has been taking treatment at Ensworth hospital in St. Joseph, came to Maryville Monday night and visited until Tuesday noon with her sister, Mrs. T. K. Wray. Mr. Hinton and their little daughter came to Maryville Tuesday morning to accompany her home.

ED DUVAL AT SKIDMORE.

His Name Will Be Submitted for Postoffice Place There—To Take Up Junction Vacancy.

Congressman Booher said in Washington Monday that he will recommend Ed T. Duval for postmaster at Skidmore. Duval is the only candidate for the office. The appointment of Duval will meet with the approval of the people of that community, as he was entitled to the place and is well fitted for the position.

There will be a vacancy at Burlington Junction with the expiration of congress on Tuesday, but Congressman Booher will not make a recommendation in this case. Charles Ferguson is slated for the place, but there are a few other candidates who are making a hard fight for the position. There is Sam Williams, who will retire as county treasurer April 1, and Jesse F. Robertson.

Congressman Booher will leave Washington Wednesday for his home in Savannah. While at home he will take up the claims of the various candidates for the Burlington Junction postoffice with a view to making a selection before returning to Washington. Mr. Booher will probably make no other selection at this time as the other postoffices in the county will not come up for a year or so.

J. H. Bryant was re-appointed as postmaster at Burlington Junction, but the appointment was not confirmed. His term was out February 28, and his re-appointment was made last December by President Taft.

W. C. Van Cleve of The Democrat-Forum, who has been assistant bill clerk of the house of representatives at Washington, will return to his home in Maryville the last of this week.

HATS OFF, LADIES, PLEASE!

The Official Board of the First M. E. Church Decided to Venture to Make That Request Sunday.

The official board of the First M. E. church of this city very bravely decided to respectfully request the women of its congregation to remove their hats at all services held in this church. The board anticipates no trouble in making the request, and believes the ladies will respond willingly. One man we know of has attended services at this church for four Sundays, in succession without having had a glimpse of the preacher or the choir, and he tried sitting in different places, too, but it was always behind a big hat. It's nearly Easter, too. And the hats are little. But we guess it will work all right.

Another step forward for the comfort and ease of those with small children who wish to attend church and cannot do so because they cannot leave the children at home, as they are too young to be expected to keep quiet—well, this has been solved by the Ladies' Aid society. Mrs. John Herron of the society has agreed to take care of the children during the church hour every Sunday morning. "The Church Nursery," as it will be called, will be in the basement of the church, and the little folks will be looked after as well as though they were at home.

Visiting in Stanberry.

Miss Lela Chilton of St. Joseph, who is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. James B. Robinson, went to Stanberry Tuesday for a few days' visit with her grandmother, Mrs. Chilton.

Mr. W. F. Langley of Denver, Col., arrived in Maryville Sunday and visited until Tuesday noon with his daughter, Mrs. Ralph W. Eversole, and family.

Mrs. W. R. McKee of Pickering spent Sunday in Maryville. She brought her little granddaughter, Lucile Strong, to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Strong, who have just located in Maryville on South Buchanan street.

Miss Gladys Collins, who has recently returned from Wyoming, began employment with Hotchkiss's variety store Monday. Miss Collins has been teaching in the west and expects to return there in May. She has been visiting her sister, Miss Rose Collins of the Hopkins schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson Craven went to Ravenwood Monday for a short visit with the family of Mrs. Craven's brother, J. S. Casteel.

Mrs. Charles Heekin and son of St. Joseph are in Maryville on a visit to Mrs. Heekin's brothers, Joseph and John Hapson, and their families.

Twenty-Sixth Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Crane, living eight miles west of Barnard, were happily surprised Sunday by a number of their neighbors and friends who, learning that the day was the twenty-sixth anniversary of their marriage, gathered at their home about 11 o'clock with baskets of good things to eat, spread a feast, and spent the day socially. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Crane and son; Mr. and Mrs. George Drydale and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Thrasher, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Burns and family, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Hartman and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Dunn and family.

The advanced sophomores of the high school formed a theater party at the Empire Monday night, since the snow had melted so they could not have the bobsled party they had intended to have. The class was chaperoned by two of its instructors, Miss Laura Hawkins and Miss Margaret Thompson. The members of the class are Mary Lewis, Vella Booth, Meriem Holt, Marie Hopper, Vljune Colden, Mary Sewell, Olivette Godsey, Brownie Helmy, Amy Clark, Lucile Holmes, Vern Pickens, Paul Thompson, Kenneth Strawn, Harold Sawyers, Irwin Harris, Cleo Lash, Ernest Moore.

St. Patrick Bobsled Party.

A bobsled party of Maryville young people were entertained Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Scott, west of Maryville, as the guests of Mr. Ross Scott. The guests were conveyed to the Scott home in a bobsled. The host was assisted in entertaining by his mother and sister, Mrs. Leslie Giffin of Cadiz, O. The house was handsomely decorated in emblems of St. Patrick's day and the luncheon was served in the St. Patrick colors, green and white.

The guests were Misses Kittie Grems, Mary Thomas, Margaret McDougal, Hazel Ritchie, Nell Campbell and Nina Hollowell, Messrs. Fred Lewis, John Mutz, Edgar Rhoades, Clun Price and Charles Gallagher.

For Her Mother's Birthday.

Mrs. N. C. Covey gave an informal surprise party Monday evening for the pleasure of her mother, Mrs. Isabel Worst, whose birthday anniversary it was. Mrs. Covey invited a few of her mother's friends to go with her to Mrs. Worst's home to spend the evening. Mrs. Worst was taken completely by surprise, which made the affair all the more enjoyable. Mrs. Covey served the company a very nice luncheon. The evening was devoted to telling memories or reminiscences of bygone years, and the pastime was so pleasant that the hour was quite late when the party broke up. The guests were Mrs. John Cornutt, Mrs. E. B. Sheldon, Mrs. Frank Owens, Mrs. I. K. Alderman, Mrs. Berney Harris and Mrs. Covey.

Dew Drop Inn Club.

A very delightful social event occurred Friday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Claud Moore entertained the Dew Drop Inn club with a Washington social at their home. The rooms were decorated with American flags and hatchets. Roll call was responded to by quotations and stories from Washington's life. Then came a cherry spearing contest, in which Mrs. Harry Farrar was victor. Next came a guessing contest of fourteen articles, representing some person or event in Washington's time, in which Mrs. Oliver Jones and Miss Bernice Baker were winners. In a contest of naming Americans, Miss Bernice Baker won. A cherry tree was pinned to the wall and each guest was blindfolded and pinned a hatchet to the tree. In this, little Miss Mildred Jones was successful. A box of bonbons was given to the one winning the most contests, which went to Miss Bernice Baker. A delicious two-course luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Misses Audrian Farrar and Mildred

Jones. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Farrar and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Jones and children, Mr. P. H. Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Baker and children, the host and hostess and little son. The next meeting of the club will be in two weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Sprague.

Surprised Class Members.

The Bible class of the Christian church Bible school of Pickering gave a surprise Monday night for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pfeiffer of that place, who will move this week to their farm, two miles from Pickering, their removal being the cause of the little social gathering as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Pfeiffer and their family. The members of the class present were Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Lincoln, Mrs. E. A. Shreve, Mrs. Lou Fine, Mrs. William Alexander, Mrs. W. T. Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. John Stephens and their guest, Miss Ball of Iowa, and Mrs. M. E. Smith. Others present not members of the class were Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Killian, Mr. and Mrs. Calla Harman, Mr. and Mrs. John McGuire, Mr. and Mrs. Orin Null, Misses Edith and Esther Pfeiffer, David and Fred Pfeiffer.

Met With Mrs. Wilderman.

The Music department of the Twentieth Century club met at the home of Mrs. T. L. Wilderman on Monday afternoon. The program numbers consisted of a paper on "In the Child's Opera Shop," by Mrs. E. G. Orear. Two vocal numbers, "A Cradle Song," and "If I Were To Be," both by Mrs. Jessie Gaynor, were sung by Mrs. H. L. Raines, who substituted for Mrs. Ralph Eversole. "The Dance of the Elves," by Kroger, was played by Miss Mae Orear. A symposium on the lives of the composers of the afternoon's study was conducted by Mrs. Berney Harris, assisted by Miss Brownie Toel, Mrs. Leslie Dean and Mrs. William Wallis. A piano number "A Canzonetta," by Joles, was given by Miss Audrey Howendobler, who also played a delinquent number, "Old Kentucky Home," which she was unable to be present to give at a previous meeting. Two vocal numbers, "The Kiss" and "Memories," by Kreiser, were sung by Mrs. Ferdinand Townsend, who substituted for Miss Jennie Garrett.

"In Old Colonial Days."

The Civic Improvement League of Graham, which we all know is a woman's organization, gave a charming entertainment Saturday night in the old exchange building there under the general caption of "In Old Colonial Days." The entertainment was planned to be given on Washington's birthday, but a traveling show had secured the hall ahead of the league and they had to give way to it. The severe cold of last Saturday night kept many from attending, but the league expects to repeat the entertainment, as it took so well there is absolute demand for it. All the participants were perfectly costumed for their parts, and proved one of the most beautiful entertainments Graham has had. The program opened with a pantomime, "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," by Miss Laura Taylor, who was draped in red, white and blue bunting. Miss Glola Eckles then gave a recitation, "Martha Washington." This was followed by 3-year-old Loyce Miller, who was certainly the prettiest, daintiest, quaintest little Colonial lady one ever beheld in most complete costume, with long train, powdered hair and all, and she so sweetly, bravely and earnestly said that although she could not be a Washington she would be a woman good and true, that for the time, at least, everybody felt that Washington was not near so much account after all, for lo! here was this little woman. Several tableaux were given with recitation by Miss Myrtle Bond as follows: "Washington and His Hatchet," "Washington and the Soldier," "Betsy Ross Making the First Flag," "The Inauguration of Washington," and these were followed by dancing the minuet by the chorus of children who sang "The Virginia 'Ristocrats" earlier in the evening. All were in costume and performed their parts with so much charm and grace they were the pride of those who had the entertainment in charge. They were Alice Weller, Taylor Adkins, Hazel Waugh, Selwyn Adkins, Gene Kauffman, Marceline Crawford, Maxine Miller, Dan Mowrey, Otto Kerr, Vera Long, Loyce Miller and Edward Crawford. A little Colonial play entitled "Penelope" was also given with this cast of characters: Penelope, a Quaker maid, Marie Bond;

John Weatherford, an American soldier, Elwood Miller; a British major, Dale Baubitts; a Hessian soldier, Otto Kerr; LaVerne Welling was the colored bodyguard who rescued the British major. The entertainment closed with a recitation, "A Modern Washington," by Adolph Mowery. The stage settings and decorations were splendidly arranged and in keeping with the program.

HE'S A MAN OF STRANGE POWERS

Carl Bauer, the Distinguished German Clairvoyant Now in Maryville, Mystifies All His Callers.

So positive am I of my power to tell the past, present and future, and exactly what you want to know, that I will make no charge unless you obtain perfect satisfaction and find me superior to all other mediums, clairvoyants and palmists.

The future can be told. Seek and find success, harmony, peace, power and happiness. Make no mistake when you undertake anything of importance. Get his advice. Hundreds of others have been put on the road to fortune by him, so why not you?

Mr. Bauer is undoubtedly a wonderful man. Everyone should seize this opportunity to see and consult this remarkable man, whether they have any serious question to ask or not. He is earnest and sincere and can be depended upon to answer truthfully any question put to him.

Ladies and gentlemen can visit Mr. Bauer without unpleasant surroundings at residence, 322 North Mulberry street, corner Fourth, the Maplehurst. Hours from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. Sunday 10 to 4. Reading one dollar, no more no less. Mrs. Bauer receives all callers.—Advertisement.

Mrs. H. E. Reece of Barnard returned home Saturday evening from a visit with Mrs. J. L. Lanning, of Maryville.

Battle is Fought Across International Boundary Line.

Douglas, Ariz., March 4.—Four dead Mexican soldiers and an unknown number of wounded were taken to Agua Prieta from the point on the international border, five miles from here, where the troops of the Ninth cavalry, United States army, fought a thirty-minute battle with Mexican regulars. More than 2,000 shots were fired by the American troops and it is estimated that fully as many were fired by the Mexicans. None of the Americans was hit.

SUIT AGAINST THREAD TRUST

Court is Asked to Order Disintegration of Combine.

Trenton, N. J., March 4.—The so called thread trust was attacked by the federal government in a civil anti-trust suit filed, seeking the dissolution of the alleged attempted monopoly by the "Cotton interests" of Great Britain of the thread trade of the United States, including that of the American Thread company, itself a consolidation of fourteen American companies.

The petition, signed by Attorney General Wickersham, was filed by United States Attorney Vreeland.

Story of Forty Thousand-Dollar Loss Puzzles Police.

Chicago, March 4.—Mrs. Mabel Miller, wife of a real estate dealer of San Antonio, Tex., whose mysterious loss of more than $40,000, presumably either by robbery or accident, stirred the police of Evanston, a suburb to the west, left the hospital, to which she had been taken when found dazed and injured, and her present whereabouts as much of a mystery as that of the large sum of money which has so strangely disappeared.

Deadlock Over Battleships.

Washington, March 4.—Another effort to secure an agreement by the house to the senate amendment to the naval appropriation bill providing for two battleships and thus break the deadlock in conference on the measure failed early this morning. The house conferees reported a disagreement and Representative Foss of Illinois moved that the house agree to the two battleship proposition. Majority Leader Underwood led the debate against the two battleship amendment. On a roll call the house voted to insist on its one-battleship provision, 168 to 144.

Bank Cashier Pleads Guilty.

Trenton, N. J., March 4.—Abram L. Beavers, former cashier of the First National bank of Hightstown, N. J., who confessed to taking $120,000 of the bank's money, pleaded guilty in the United States court. He will be sentenced two weeks hence.

BOWLING RECORD IS BROKEN

New Mark for All Events Made by Herrmann of Cleveland.

Toledo, March 4.—Another American Bowling congress record was broken when Eddie Herrmann of the Lincoln five-man team from Cleveland, O., totaled 1,972 pins, which makes a new mark for all events.

The former record was held by Thomas Haley of Detroit, who made 1,961 in that city in 1910. In the two-man event H. Felgenhauer and Eddie Herrmann of Cleveland went into third place, with a total of 1,212. J. Davies and P. McKee are fifth.

Gotch to Meet Le Marin.

Keeps Your Stove "Always Ready for Company"

A bright, clean, glossy stove is the pride of every housekeeper. But it is hard to keep a stove nice and shiny unless Black Silk Stove Polish is used. Here is the reason: Black Silk Stove Polish sticks right to the iron. It doesn't rub off or drip off. Its shine lasts four times longer than the shine of any other polish. You only need to polish one-fourth as often, yet your stove will be cleaner, brighter and better looking than it has been since you first bought it. Use on your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove. It's a can from your hardware or stove dealer. It's so easy to use that any other stove polish you have ever used before, your dealer is sure to refund your money. But we tell you you will agree with the thousands of other up-to-date women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the "best stove polish ever made."

LIQUID OR PASTE ONE QUALITY

Be sure to get the genuine. Black Silk Stove Polish costs you no more than the ordinary kind. Keep your grates, registers, fenders and stove pipes bright and free from rusting by using BLACK SILK AIR-DRYING ENAMEL. Brush with each can of enamel only. Use BLACK SILK METAL POLISH for silver to metal, jewelry or brass. It works quickly, easily and leaves a brilliant surface. It has no oil or grease on automobiles.

READ A HALF HOUR A DAY

How a Housewife With Intelligence Kept Herself From Drifting Into a Dull, Old Woman.

A woman who has brought up a big family on a small income, yet has managed to keep mentally alert, says it is due to a Half-Hour Club.

This club has as its fixed rule that half an hour each day must be spent in solid reading. There was a leeway of 24 hours, after that there was a fine of five cents each day for failure to get through the prescribed reading.

Twice a month the club meets for discussion of the reading done and to collect fines of delinquents and spur them on to fresh effort.

The woman who told of this club says: "No one knows what it has meant to me. When you are the one woman in a family of boys, have a bushel basket of stockings to darn weekly, six children to sew for, lessons to be heard, it is a big temptation to stop reading entirely or to fritter spare minutes on novels. That half hour a day of solid reading has kept me up with the times, has tested my body and stimulated my brain, and, best of all, it has kept me from drifting into a dull old woman, of whom my sons might love, but would pity for her ignorance."

Especially if you live in a small town is such a club of importance. It is easy to stagnate, unless a conscious effort is made. The winter season is the time to start such a club among your neighbors. Do not be content with planning a half-hour reading daily for yourself. You will never hold to it without the stimulus of companionship and the broadening interest of the fortnightly meetings.

Bacilli for Consumption.

An alleged new bacilli treatment for consumption, an alleged discovery of a Dr. Friedmann, which has been widely exploited by a newspaper syndicate, is discredited by the Journal of the American Medical association. In order to secure curative effects it is asserted that these living bacilli derived from some kind of a turtle must be injected deep into the muscles of the patient. The preparation of the remedy is secret. "The use of the fluid," says the Journal, "is not sufficient warrant for any other attitude toward Friedmann's treatment of tuberculosis than one of critical neutrality and judicious skepticism."

HOW ONE WOMAN WON

Her Health and Strength Back Again by the Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Corum writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with womanly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and, from the first day, it seemed to help. I had almost lost my reason, but, thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommend it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it." Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health.

It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieves the effects of overwork, both mental and physical. Fifty years' successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women. In every community, there are some who have been benefited by Cardui. The beneficial effects of this time-tested woman's remedy, soon show themselves in many different ways. Try it.

WILSON TAKES THE OATH

THOUSANDS ROAR GREAT WELCOME TO NEW LEADERS OF THE NATION

Wild Over Wilson, Marshall Too.

PARADE IS BEST YET.

New President Sworn in Before Cheering Throngs by Chief Justice White and Delivers Simple Address—Wild and Jubilant Crowds Line Pennsylvania Avenue, Jam Stands, Dot Windows and Lean Over Roofs as Elaborate Procession Passes—Wilson Family Holds Reunion.

Washington, March 4.—In the presence of the biggest crowd that ever packed and jammed itself into the great plaza at the east end of the capitol, surrounded by high civil and military dignitaries, diplomats and statesmen of his own and foreign countries, Woodrow Wilson, erstwhile governor of New Jersey and president elect, today took the oath of office that made him the twenty-eighth president of the United States.

Less than an hour before, with solemn ceremonial, Thomas R. Marshall the vice president elect, had been inducted into his office in the senate

PRESIDENT WILSON.

chamber before the members of both houses. Somewhat earlier still President Taft, the president and vice president elect, with their respective wards of honor, the Essex troop of Newark, N. J., and the Culver Black Horse troop of Indiana, had swept down Pennsylvania avenue on their way to the capitol between rows on row of cheering, shouting thousands.

Before that and harking back to the 4th and distant yesterday, the president elect's entry was a triumphal one, the pent up Democratic enthusiasm of sixteen years concentrating seemingly at the gateway of the nation's capital and bursting forth in a joyful acclaim.

Through a lane of Princeton university students and surrounded by cheering thousands the president elect and members of his family were hastened from the station, escorted by an official reception committee, to their hotel.

First Enters White House.

Within less than two hours after his arrival Mr. Wilson for the first time in his life crossed the threshold of the White House and grasped the hand of President Taft. With Mrs.
Wilson, the president elect was escorted to the White House by Colonel Spencer Cosby. The president and Mrs. Taft awaited their coming and extended them their cordial greetings and the keys to the home of presidents.

First, however, immediately after their arrival at the hotel, the president elect, Mrs. Wilson and their daughters joined in an informal reunion with other members of the family, who had gathered from different parts of the country.

Last night, as an alumnus of Princeton university, the man who is to guide the destinies of the nation was the honor guest of the alumni of his alma mater at a smoker.

Yet all the receptions and formal speechmaking that went before, just as the White House luncheon and great military pageant that followed, were but the setting of the principal scene, the background of the event which will make the history of this country for four years to come.

Crowds Gather Early.

Soon after daybreak this morning the crowds began to gather along Pennsylvania avenue and in front of the great platform that had been erected for the inaugural exercises at the eastern end of the capitol. Long before noon every available inch of space was taken.

Points of vantage, which in ordinary times would be deemed precarious even for a sparrow, were pre-empted by youngsters willing to risk the loss of a limb or worse for the chance of seeing a president of the United States inaugurated. Nor was their enthusiasm dampened by delay.

As the sunset procession, which precedes the inaugural ceremony, filed out of the capitol and wound its way across the platform a hush fell over the crowd. Mechanically many uncovered their heads.

The sergeant-at-arms of the senate and house, followed by the marshal of the District of Columbia, made up the vanguard of the procession of high dignities. Behind these last came Chief Justice Edward D. White, the sergeant-at-arms, whose duty it was to administer the oath of office to the president elect, and the associate justices followed by the committee on arrangements.

Then came the president and the vice president elect, and at their rear a distinguished following of ambassadors governors and other dignitaries, including the newly sworn vice president.

Chief Justice Administers Oath.

When the procession paused everyone strained attention to catch the words that would usher into the chair of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln the first Democrat to gain that high place in a score of years.

Solemnly and distinctly, though mostly of the waiting thousands hanging on the event of his words could not ever see the motion of his lips, the chief justice administered the oath of office to the president elect.

An instant the waiting host stood silent. Then it became a shrieking, leaping mob, roaring a pandemoniac welcome to the nation's new executive and all but smothering the saluting cannon which first gave notice that a new president had been inaugurated and a new administration began.

From the crowd in the square and on the platform the other massed multitudes that lined the broad sides of Pennsylvania avenue took their cue and it was many minutes before President Wilson could begin his brief inaugural address. Even then so great was the clamor that only those nearest to him could distinguish what he said.

Returns to Executive Mansion.

Immediately after the address was finished President Wilson, accompanied by the ex-president, hastened to the Pennsylvania avenue side of the capitol, where carriages awaited to take the party to the luncheon in the executive mansion.

During the drive Mr. Taft sat on the left of his successor. In this he followed established precedent, a precedent that was broken four years ago by Colonel Roosevelt, who went directly from the capitol after the inaugural exercises were over to the Union station to take a train for Oyster Bay.

All along their route up Pennsylvania avenue the old and the new presidents were greeted tumultuously. Indeed, to an observer not familiar with the situation it might have been difficult to determine which was the incoming and which the outgoing chief executive, so well did the genial Taft smile match the beaming features of President Wilson.

At the executive mansion the two were met by Mrs. Taft, who hitherto had taken no part in the day's ceremonies and a subcommittee of the official reception committee. President Wilson also saw for the first time since early today Mrs. Wilson and their three daughters, who had been under the escort of special military aids during the ceremonies at the capitol.

There was a brief exchange of compliments between Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Taft, in which the latter gracefully turned over the suzerainty that Shoreham, where he stopped last night, to escort him to the White House.

A similar delegation waited upon Vice President elect Marshall at the same hotel, where the new vice president will make his home during the coming months.

At the executive mansion the incoming president and vice president were greeted by Mr. Taft, and a few minutes later the fateful ride to the capitol was begun. The president and vice president elect occupied the first carriage with two members of the congressional committee.

In the carriage following were Vice President elect Marshall and three members of the committee, there being no retiring vice president. After them strung along the carriages of a host of cabinet officers and other high dignitaries of military and civil rank.

On the way to the capitol President Taft occupied the seat on the right side of the carriage, this position being reversed after the inaugural ceremony and the new president having the seat of honor on their return to the executive mansion.

Arrived at the senate wing of the capitol, the president and president elect went at once to the president's room. Vice President elect Marshall remained to the vice president's chamber.

Short Delay Occurs.

Here there was a short delay owing to some hitch in the proceedings, but it was soon over. The committee on arrangements waited on the president and president elect and escorted them to the senate chamber, where they were given seats reserved for them in front of the vice president's desk.

The same committee also escorted the vice president elect to the senate chamber, where the members of the house and of the supreme court were already seated.

Then on the eve of the senate's adjourning the president pro tempore administered the oath that made Governor Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana vice president of the United States immediately thereafter the senate adjourning after a prayer by the chaplain.

Following the adjournment Vice President Marshall delivered his inaugural address, after which he administered the oath of office to the senators elect.

At the conclusion of these impressive ceremonies within the senate chamber all those assembled there formed a procession marching through the rotunda of the capitol to the platform at the east end of the building, where the big event of the day, the actual swearing in of the president elect, was to take place.

For Light Plant.

The electric light bond proposition at Elmo carried at an election held Monday in that town. The total vote cast was 75, 56 votes for the proposition, 18 against, and one vote being thrown out.

The bond issue is for $3,000 for the

One Member of Court Says Report May Never Be Taken Up Officially —Home in Good Condition.

Members of the county court, Judges J. G. Thornhill, Floyd Westfall and E.
T. Bailey, made an inspection trip to the county farm Tuesday morning to see if the conditions at that institution are as bad as they are said to have been by the report of the recent grand jury, which was filed several days ago.
The grand jury report has not as yet been certified to the county court, but a copy of their report will be sent to them on Wednesday, according to Circuit Clerk Rathbun.

Members of the county court said Tuesday that they did not find conditions as bad as had been pictured and stated by the grand jury. They found everything at the county home in a good condition, and just as good as could be had under the circumstances.
The court does not intend to consider the grand jury report as to the county home, as they seem to be well satisfied with the running affairs of that institution.

As one member of the court said Tuesday morning, when asked if the grand jury report would be taken up at this time, replied:

The county court Tuesday afternoon was making settlements with the various township collectors over the county. Only two collectors' reports had been approved by the court, and they were Atchison and Hopkins.

REPORTED ADVERSELY.

Jefferson City, March 4.—The "wets" won the first round in one of the most important fights for prohibition Missouri has known, when the senate committee on criminal jurisprudence reported adversely Monday night the Craig county unit bill. The vote of the committee stood 4 to 4, and one member of the committee did not vote. The county unit bill has passed the house by a vote of 9 to 45.

The committee then voted to recommend for passage the bill introduced by Senator Hawkins, which exempts towns of more than 4,000 population from voting with the counties in local option elections. As the law now is, it exempts towns of 2,500 or more. The Hawkins bill would only affect eight towns at the present time in the state, it is said. The bill would not affect Maryville at all, as the population here is over 4,000, the situation in this town would remain the same as it is now.
Maryville voting separately from the rest of the county.

The "drys" plan to reopen the fight today. When the senate meets, Senator Anderson Craig of Maryville will move to place the county unit bill on the calendar of the senate, despite the adverse report of the committee, and make it a special order for next Tuesday.

The "wets," flushed over their draw victory before the committee, are certain to oppose this. They will try to prevent the bill going on the calendar.
This will furnish doubtful senators an opportunity to vote to sustain the action of the committee without going on the roll as voting against county unit.
It gives the "wets" a tactical advantage, but so tight has been drawn the issue between the bills that a vote for practically any amendment to the county unit bill or against giving it a hearing before the entire committee will be regarded as a "wet" vote.

The county unit bill, the object of all the contention, provides that the counties must vote as units on local option elections. The "drys" assert and the "wets" concede that it would make practically all of Missouri dry except Kansas City, St. Joseph and St. Louis, including Springfield and Joplin.

Mrs. A. W. Goff and children of Bedford, Ia., and her sister, Mrs. Alta Hills of Blanchard, Ia., were in Maryville Tuesday on their way to Bedford.

Miss Edith Davenport spent Sunday in St. Joseph with her uncle, A. W.
Davenport and family.

WILL ENLIST AGAIN.

Shirley Irwin of U. S. Naval Service Is A Guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Fordyce.

Mrs. E. J. Gee of Burlington Junction and her guest, Shirley Irwin of the U. S. S. Albany, arrived in Maryville Tuesday and are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Fordyce, on North Market street. Mr. Irwin completed eight years service in the U. S. navy three months ago, and will again enlist the 26th of this month. He has seen much service, was with the American troops in China during the recent revolution.

Mr. Irwin was on the same warship with Frank David, a brother of Mrs. S.
T. Gile and Mrs. J. H. Anderson of this city.

TO ADD C. O. D.

New Feature Will Be Great Conveni- ence—Postmaster Says More Mail Is Sent Away Than Received.

The C. O. D. feature will be added to the parcel post service July 1, according to an order received at the Maryville postoffice. The new feature will not apply to amounts over $100. A flat rate of 10 cents to cover the cost of collection will be charged the sender whenever collection upon delivery is desired.

The new feature will add little to the competitive value of the system against the competition of the express companies. Most of the latter charge nothing for collection on delivery of sums up to $50. Over that amount 10 cents is charged for every $100 collected.

It would cost a farmer or a merchant 10 cents plus the postage to send a 10-cent package C. O. D. parcel post.

Orders were received at the Maryville postoffice to place goods sent by parcel post on the special delivery list.
This will be a great convenience, as up to now only first class mail has been eligible for special delivery. Perishable goods will be delivered on Sunday and many will avail themselves of the parcel post. The postage will have to be of two kinds, the parcel post stamps, however ordinary postage stamps may be used to pay the special delivery fee if the fact that they are to pay for the special is written on the wrapper.

Postmaster Beech says that locally the outgoing parcel post far exceeds the incoming. This shows that the people of Maryville are taking advantage of the convenience of sending goods by mail, and also is an argument for the advantage to be gained by merchants who can thus deliver goods very rapidly to customers anywhere in this part of the country.

Clevia and John Alexander of Pickering were guests in Maryville Sunday of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J.
F. Gray, and their cousin, Miss Roline Gray, who is attending school here.

Mrs. F. M. Roseberry of Hopkins was a Maryville visitor Saturday.

DIVORCE SUIT OF MRS. REEDER ON TRIAL IN CIRCUIT COURT.

L. HENRY NOT GUILTY

The divorce case of Maggie M.
Reeder against Albert F. Reeder is on trial today before Judge W. C. Ellison in circuit court. The case is being contested by the defendant, who is represented by S. E. Browne of Hopkins and John M. Dawson, Shinnabargar, Blagg & Ellison are the attorneys for Mrs. Reeder.

They were married in Nodaway county on November 24, 1885, and they have lived continuously together until this year, with the exception of nine months in 1886, when the defendant deserted her, according to the petition.
The plaintiff, in her petition, charges ill treatment and false accusations.

There are about forty witnesses in the case from Hopkins.

The jury in the case of Lewis Henry, charged with grand larceny, returned a verdict Tuesday morning, after being out a short time, of not guilty for Henry. The jury in the case was composed by P. D. Porter, W. R. Hughes, Frank Turley, Roland Moss, L. O.
Guisinger, Charles Yabmark, Oliver Tudder, Z. W. Harris, George Hepburn, Joe Rogers, Robert Sawyers and Lowell Campbell.

Motion for new trial was sustained by the court in the case of Anna Miller, administratrix of the estate of John H. Miller vs. Allen Bros. The case is set for the third Thursday of court.

The gauging cases of Bruce Johnson and Robert Rice were continued by agreement.

Hail for Bernard Muse of Parnell, who is now in the county jail, having been indicted by the grand jury on a charge of running a gaming house, on a charge of gaming, and on two charges of violating the local option laws, was fixed at $300 on each charge.

TO INCORPORATE FOR $10,000.

Farmers' Phone Users to Vote Satur- day on Proposition at the Court House.

The Farmers' Telephone company's committee, named for the purpose of drawing up a constitution and by-laws under which the company could incorporate, has prepared its report and will be ready to lay the results of its labors before the meeting Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the court house. Incorporation will probably be voted on then.

The committee is composed of Fred L. Armstrong, Lewis E. White and A.
J. Croy.

The constitution and by-laws provide that the company shall be incorporated for $10,000, that one share of $10 each shall be issued to each phone owner, and that one person may own only five phones. Each share carries one vote. Every shareholder shall sign the constitution, and when new lines are built a share is issued to the phoneholders as soon as the drop on the switchboard is paid for.

Under the new constitution the company would be empowered to rent phones. The directors would be in charge of the management of the switchboard, and would repair all lines after a notice to repair had been ignored for forty-eight hours. The board is allowed to incur a deficit of only $500 before the stockholders are called together to meet the obligations.
Special assessments may be made only at the annual meetings or at special meetings called for that purpose.

Death Near Guilford.

Mrs. W. M. Joslin, living three and a half miles northeast of Guilford, died at 3 o'clock Monday morning from a stroke of paralysis she was stricken with on Sunday. No funeral arrangements have been made. Mrs. Joslin was 54 years old the 29th day of October last. She was a native of Gentry county, but had lived in Nodaway county twenty-five years. She is survived by three children, Lela May Joslin, Clarence Vernon Joslin and Victor Ballenger.

New Trimmer Arrived.

Miss Abbie Erickson arrived in Maryville Saturday evening from the Des Moines wholesale millinery houses and will be the head trimmer for the new millinery store of Misses Sadie and Ethel Wood, who came to Maryville a few days ago from Red Oak, Ia., to engage in business here.

Oh, say, did you see by the morn's glorious light,
The suffragette band that to Washington we're sending,
With hearts beating high, faces merry and bright, Tinsel and braid with the sunshine a-blending?
The trumpet's loud blare proclaims they're all there,
And hosts of well wishers with shouts fill the air.
The suffragette movement, oh, long may it wave,
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

'Midst the multitudes roar the tramping of feet,
The Ladies' Military band from Missouri is playing.
In history's grand pageant they move down the street,
Of modest demeanor, no laurels es-saying.
With clarion note, progression promote,
And this be the slogan, "Give woman the vote!"
Oh, the suffragette movement, long
may it wave,

WILSON'S VIEWS GIVEN TO NATION

Inaugural Address of the New President.

DEFINES PEOPLE'S DUTY.

First Obligation of Law is to Keep So-
Not Merely One of Politics.

Washington, March 4.—The inaugural address of President Woodrow Wilson
is as follows:
There has been a change of government. It began two years ago, when the house of representatives became Democratic by a decisive majority. It has now been completed. The senate about to assemble will also be Democratic. The offices of president and vice president have been put into the hands of Democrats. What does the change mean? That is the question that is uppermost in our minds today.
That is the question I am going to try to answer, in order, if I may, to interpret the occasion.
It means much more than the mere success of a party. The success of a party means little except when the nation is using that party for a large
and definite purpose. No one can mistake the purpose for which the nation
now seeks to use the Democratic party.
It seeks to use it to interpret a change
in its own plans and point of view.
Some old things with which we had
grown familiar and which had begun
to creep into the very habit of our
their aspect as we have latterly looked
critically upon them with fresh, awakened eyes; have dropped their disguises
and shown themselves alien and sinister. Some new things, as we look frankly upon them, willing to comprehend their real character, have come
to assume the aspect of things long believed in and familiar, stuff of our own convictions. We have been refreshed
by a new insight into our own life.

Our Model Government.
We see that in many things life
is very great. It is incomparably great
in its material aspects, in its body of
wealth, in the diversity and sweep of
its energy, in the industries which have
been conceived and built up by the genius of individual men and the limitless enterprise of groups of men. It is great, also, in its moral force.
Nowhere else in the world have noble men and women exhibited in
more striking forms the beauty and
the energy of sympathy and helpfulness and counsel in their efforts to retify wrong, alleviate suffering and set the weak in the way of strength and
hope. We have built up, moreover,
a great system of government, which
has stood through a long age as in-
many respects a model for those who seek to set liberty upon foundations that will endure against fortune's change, against storm and accident.
Our life contains very great things and contains it in rich abundance.
But the evil has come with the good,
and much fine gold has been corroded.
With riches has come inexcusable
waste. We have squandered a great part of what we might have used and
have not stopped to conserve the exceeding bounty of nature without
which our genius for enterprise would
have been worthless and impotent, according to be careful, shamefully prodigal as well as admirably efficient.
We have been proud of our industrial
achievements, but we have not hitherto stopped thoughtfully enough to count the human cost, the cost of lives
snuffed out, of energies overtaxed and broken, the fearful physical and spiritual cost to the men and women and children upon whom the dead weight
and burden of it all has fallen pitiless-ly the years through. The groans and agony of it all had not yet reached
our ears, the solemn, moving undertones of our life, coming up out of the mines and factories and out of every home where the struggle had its in-imate and familiar seat. With the great government went many deep secret things which we too long delayed
to look into and scrutinize with candid, fearless eyes. The great government we loved has too often been
made use of for private and selfish
purposes, and those who used it had forgotten the people.

At last a vision has been vouchsafed us of our life as a whole. We see the bad with the good, the debased and
decadent with the sound and vital.
With this vision we approach new affairs. Our duty is to cleanse, to restore, to restore, to correct the evil without impairing the good, to purify
and humanize every process of our common life without weakening or sentimentalizing it. There has been something crude and heartless and unfeeling in our haste to succeed and be
great. Our thought has been, "Let every man look out for himself, let every generation look out for itself," while we ignored giant machinery which
should have a chance to look out for themselves. We had not forgotten our
morals. We remembered well enough that we had set up a policy which was
the most powerful, with an eye single
to the standards of justice and fair
play, and remembered it with pride.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is a cure for the dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up his constitution and assisting his nature in doing its work. This proprietary preparation has such faith in its curative powers that they offer $100,000 reward for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

great military and civic pageant, this afternoon holds the public's interest.
Considered purely from a spectacular
viewpoint, it is not only by far the biggest feature of the inauguration, but
in many respects surpasses anything
that Washington has seen in a long series of inaugural spectacles.

The decorations also are unique and
attractive in character. Pennsylvania avenue from end to end of the line of march gleams with green and white,
the color scheme adopted by the city officials.

The stand where the president is now reviewing the parade, erected on the White House grounds, follows out
the same general decorative idea, though here the architect has chosen
to weave into the stand's design the
characteristics of Mount Vernon, the
ancient home of the first president,
and of Monticello, the homestead of
the patron saint of Democracy, Thomas Jefferson.

The luncheon at the executive mansion was only about half over when
the parade started.

President in Reviewing Stand.
The head of the first grand division
House when President Wilson first
showed himself in the glassed in section of the reviewing stand that had been reserved for him. His appearance was the signal for a wave of applause that swept all before it, drowning the music of the bands as it rolled toward the capital.

Soon after the cheering that greeted
the president's entrance to the reviewing stand died away far down the avenue arose another tumult that contained a deeper note.

Swiftly the swelling voices rolled
nearer, reaching the stand and passed
onward and then far down the avenue
there came into view the faded blue uniforms of the Grand Army of the Republic.

They were only a handful of the host that tramped down the same avenue nearly fifty years ago in the grand review before President Lincoln, and
they did not step forward with the snap and elasticity that they did in
the bright spring sunshine of 1865.

There were many in the crowd who stopped cheering as the veterans of 1861-65 passed by and turned away their heads. Even the president, self-contained master of self as he has shown himself to be, was visibly affected. He was seen to swallow hard several times and once he turned away
to wipe his glasses, which seemed suddenly to have become misty.

General Wood Grand Marshal.
According to Major General Leonard Wood, U. S. A., chief of staff and grand marshal of the parade, the regular army section of it was a model for other nations to copy. Certainly
it was one of the most impressive features of the whole spectacle, if regard be from the standpoint of military efficiency and smartness.

The first grand division of the parade, which included this section, was composed of the regular naval and military forces and was under the direct command of Major General W.
W. Wotherspoon, U. S. A. In it marched picked men of the army navy and marine corps.

The West Point cadets, in their smart gray uniforms, and the middeles from the naval academy at Annapolis, the best drilled corps in the country
from whence will come our future generals and admirals, were also a feature of this division.

Next in line came the militia division, headed by the national guard
General Albert D. Mills, U. S. A., commanding. Practically the entire national guard of New Jersey was in line in this division.

Other states that were represented
were Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Maryland, Virginia, Georgia, Maine
and North Carolina.

Here also the cadets of the various military schools of the country marched, among them the cadets from the
Military academy, the Carlisle Indian school, Purdue university, the Citadel cadets and the Georgia Military academy.

The third division was made up of the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Union Veteran union, the Spanish War Veterans and various other patriotic organizations. In command was General James E. Stuart of Chicago, a veteran of both the civil
and Spanish wars.

Chief Marshal Robert N. Harper,
chairman of the committee on civic organizations, led the fourth grand division, which was composed of various civic organizations, mostly political, from all parts of the country.

One feature of this division was a band of American Indians dressed in the costume of their ancestors. Another was the Princeton students, who
escorted the president from his home
men's section of the parade.

scouts were stationed, ready to render
first aid services to any of the crowd
or marchers who might be injured.
Tonight there will be a big fireworks display.

ing Machine Company.
Detroit, March 4.—A civil anti-trust
suit filed here by order of Attorney General Wickersham, charging the Burgess Adding Machine company with monopolizing interstate and foreign trade in adding machines and appliances, was followed immediately by the entry of an agreed decree terminating alleged unfair practices to stifle competition.

The $5,500,000 company was ordered to instruct its agents in writing to dis-alist from interfering with competitors.

Dr. and Mrs. H. K. Taylor, who have been on a visit in Ohio and Kentucky for the past few weeks on account of the health of Dr. Taylor, are expected to arrive home Saturday, according to a letter received Tuesday by Prof.
Rickenbrode. Dr. Taylor is some improved in health. For the past week or so they have been at Ft. Thomas, Ky.

To Build on to Building.

Mrs. Wallis are to build on to their building on South Main street next to the Empire theatre. They will build a twenty-five foot addition, one story high, and have let the contract for the work to Lincoln Bent. Work will start on the addition within the next month or so.

Visiting in Maryville.

George W. Fink, a former resident of Maryville and at one time proprietor of the Lincoln hotel here, arrived in the city Monday night for a few days' business visit. Mr. Fink is now in the hotel business at Wellington, Kansas.

Junction, who has been visiting in Maryville since Friday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Swinford, returned home Tuesday.

Funeral Held Sunday.

The funeral of Mrs. Wm. A. New, who died February 28 at her home, near Gaynor, was held Sunday at the M. E. church in Hopkins by Rev. T. C.
Taylor, the pastor. Burial took place at the Hopkins cemetery. The pallbearers were Leonard Owens, John Fisher, Olin Avey Wallace and Virgil Pistole. Mrs. New was 41 years old and was the mother of fifteen children, thirteen of whom survived. Mrs.
Bessie Fisher of Idaho, the oldest daughter, died about three months ago, and the other child died in infancy.
Her husband, M. A. New, also survives.
Before her marriage to Mr. New she was Mary Dillon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Dillon. A sister, Mrs. Cora Cook of Grant City, also survives.

McIntyre Has Moved.

McIntyre's repair shop, which has been in connection with the Bee Hive shoe store, has been moved to the Robinson building on West Third street and will occupy the building with E. J. Thornton, sign painter and decorator. Mr. McIntyre bought new machinery.

Are you keeping your bowels, liver and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway through these alimentary or drainage organs every few days with salts, cathartic pills, castor oil or purgative waters?

Stop having a bowel washday. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have headache, biliousness, coated tongue, indigestion, sour stomach or constipated bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.—Advertisement.

NO NEWS FROM THE BAND.

Not a word has been received in Maryville since the arrival of the Missouri Ladies Military band in Washington, D. C., on Monday morning. The families of the girls in this city have been anxiously waiting for some word from them, especially since the morning papers were received.

If dispatches are not overdrawn concerning the suffragette parade in Washington Monday afternoon, the Maryville girls certainly had the time of their lives. These reports say that 5,000 women marched in the parade and practically fought their way, foot by foot, up Pennsylvania avenue through a surging mob that defied the police, swamped the marchers and broke their procession up in little companies. Troops of cavalry from Ft. Meyer were rushed into Washington to take charge of Pennsylvania avenue, and the reports further said that no inauguration has produced such a scene, that at times amounted to riot.

St. Louis papers say that the Missouri Ladies Military band of Maryville, Mo., had been chosen to lead the suffragette parade from a field of eleven bands.

The band is expected to leave Washington Wednesday evening and will reach Maryville Friday morning.

Young Men and Women Wanted.

The parcels post law, which went into effect January 1st, will require many additional men and women between the ages of 18 and 45 for railway mail clerks, city and rural carriers and postoffice clerks. Short hours. Pay twice a month. Average salary better than $100 a month. Those desiring appointments should call on Mr. John E. Shannon on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th, at the Linville hotel.—Adv.

Guests From California.

Mrs. W. D. Winslow and daughter, Miss Dorothy Winslow, of Santa Clara, Cal., arrived Monday noon on a visit to Mrs. Winslow's mother and sister, Mrs. Marguerite Curfman and Miss Katherine Curfman, and her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Colby.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Baumli of near Arkoe wish to express their sincere gratitude to their friends and neighbors for their assistance and many acts of kindness during the sickness and at the death of their little daughter, Lucile.

Rev. Mother John is Better.

Sister Joseph and Sister Anselma of Clyde Benedictine convent went to Savannah Tuesday morning. They report the Rev. Mother John improving as rapidly as possible from her severe injury of a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Frank Hinton of Pickering, who has been taking treatment at Ensworth hospital in St. Joseph, came to Maryville Monday night and visited until Tuesday noon with her sister, Mrs. T. K. Wray. Mr. Hinton and their little daughter came to Maryville Tuesday morning to accompany her home.

ED DUVAL AT SKIDMORE.

His Name Will Be Submitted for Post-office Place There—To Take Up Junction Vacancy.

Congressman Booher said in Washington Monday that he will recommend Ed T. Duval for postmaster at Skidmore. Duval is the only candidate for the office. The appointment of Duval will meet with the approval of the people of that community, as he is entitled to the place and is well fitted for the position.

There will be a vacancy at Burlington Junction with the expiration of congress on Tuesday, but Congressman Booher will not make a recommendation in this case. Charles Ferguson is slated for the place, but there are a few other candidates who are making a hard fight for the position. There is Sam Williams, who will retire as county treasurer April 1, and Jesse F. Robertson.

Congressman Booher will leave Washington Wednesday for his home in Savannah. While at home he will take up the claims of the various candidates for the Burlington Junction postoffice with a view to making a selection before returning to Washington. Mr. Booher will probably make no other selection at this time as the other postoffices in the county will not come up for a year or so.

J. H. Bryant was re-appointed as postmaster at Burlington Junction, but the appointment was not confirmed. His term was out February 28, and his re-appointment was made last December by President Taft.

W. C. Van Cleve of The Democrat-Forum, who has been assistant bill clerk of the house of representatives at Washington, will return to his home in Maryville the last of this week.

HATS OFF, LADIES, PLEASE!

The official board of the First M. E. church of this city very bravely decided to respectfully request the women of its congregation to remove their hats at all services held in this church. The board anticipates no trouble in making the request, and believes the ladies will respond willingly. One man we know of has attended services at this church for four Sundays, in succession without having had a glimpse of the preacher or the choir, and he tried sitting in different places, too, but it was always behind a big hat. It's nearly Easter, too. And the hats are little. But we guess it will work all right.

Another step forward for the comfort and ease of those with small children who wish to attend church and cannot do so because they cannot leave the children at home, as they are too young to be expected to keep quiet—well, this has been solved by the Ladies' Aid society. Mrs. John Heron of the society has agreed to take care of the children during the church hour every Sunday morning. "The Church Nursery," as it will be called, will be in the basement of the church, and the little folks will be looked after as well as though they were at home.

Visiting in Stanberry.

Miss Lela Chilton of St. Joseph, who is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. James B. Robinson, went to Stanberry Tuesday for a few days' visit with her grandmother, Mrs. Chilton.

Mr. W. F. Langley of Denver, Col. arrived in Maryville Sunday and visited until Tuesday noon with his daughter, Mrs. Ralph W. Eversole, and family.

Mrs. W. R. McKee of Pickering spent Sunday in Maryville. She brought her little granddaughter, Lucile Strong, to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Strong, who have just located in Maryville on South Buchanan street.

Miss Gladys Collins, who has recently returned from Wyoming, began employment with Hotelkin's variety store Monday. Miss Collins has been teaching in the west and expects to return there in May. She has been visiting her sister, Miss Rose Collins of the Hopkins schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson Craven went to Ravenwood Monday for a short visit with the family of Mrs. Craven's brother, J. S. Casteel.

Mrs. Charles Heekin and son of St. Joseph are in Maryville on a visit to Mrs. Heekin's brothers, Joseph and John Harpison, and their families.

Twenty-Sixth Wedding Anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Crane, living eight miles west of Barnard, were happily surprised Sunday by a number of their neighbors and friends who learning that the day was the twenty-sixth anniversary of their marriage, gathered at their home about 11 o'clock with baskets of good things to eat, spread a feast, and spent the day socially. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Crane and son; Mr. and Mrs. George Drydale and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Thrasher, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Burns and family, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Hartman and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Dunn and family.

Sophomore Theater Party. The advanced sophomores of the high school formed a theater party at the Empire Monday night, since the snow had melted so they could not have the bobsled party they had intended to have. The class was chaperoned by two of its instructors, Miss Laura Hawkins and Miss Margaret Thompson. The members of the class are Mary Lewis, Vella Booth, Meriem Holt, Marie Hopper, Vijuene Colden, Mary Sewell, Olivette Godsey, Brownie Helly, Amy Clark, Lucile Holmes, Vern Pickens, Clark Thompson, Kenneth Strawn, Harold Sawyers, Irwin Harris, Cole Lash, Ernest Moore.

St. Patrick Bobsled Party. A bobsled party of Maryville young people were entertained Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Scott, west of Maryville, as the guests of Mr. Ross Scott. The guests were conveyed to the Scott home in a bobsled. The host was assisted in entertaining by his mother and sister, Mrs. Leslie Giffin of Cadiz, O. The house was handsomely decorated in emblems of St. Patrick's day and the luncheon was served in the St. Patrick colors, green and white.

For Her Mother's Birthday. Mrs. N. C. Covey gave an informal surprise party Monday evening for the pleasure of her mother, Mrs. Isabel Worst, whose birthday anniversary it was. Mrs. Covey invited a few of her mother's friends to go with her to Mrs. Worst's home to spend the evening. Mrs. Worst was taken completely by surprise, which made the affair all the more enjoyable. Mrs. Covey served the company a very nice luncheon. The evening was devoted to telling memories or reminiscences of bygone years, and the pastime was so pleasant that the hour was quite late when the party broke up. The guests were Mrs. John Curmutt, Mrs. E. B. Sheldon, Mrs. Frank Owens, Mrs. I. K. Alderman, Mrs. Berney Harris and Mrs. Covey.

Dew Drop Inn Club. A very delightful social event occurred Friday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Claud Moore entertained the Dew Drop Inn club with a Washington social at their home. The rooms were decorated with American flags and hatchets. Roll call was responded to by quotations and stories from Washington's life. Then came a cherry spearing contest, in which Mrs. Harry Farrar was victor. Next came a guessing contest of fourteen articles, representing some person or event in Washington's time, in which Mrs. Oliver Jones and Miss Bernice Baker were winners. In a contest of naming Americans, Miss Bernice Baker won. A cherry tree was pinned to the wall and each guest was blindfolded and pinned a hatchet to the tree. In this, little Miss Mildred Jones was successful. A box of bonbons was given to the one winning the most contests, which went to Miss Bernice Baker. A delicious two-course luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Misses Audrian Farrar and Mildred

Jones. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Farrar and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Jones and children, Mr. P. H. Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Baker and children, the host and hostess and little son. The next meeting of the club will be in two weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Sprague.

Surprised Class Members. The Bible class of the Christian church Bible school of Pickering gave a surprise Monday night for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pfeiffer of that place, who will move this week to their farm, two miles from Pickering, their removal being the cause of the little social gathering as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Pfeiffer and their family. The members of the class present were Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Lincoln, Mrs. E. A. Shreve, Mrs. Lou Fine, Mrs. William Alexander, Mrs. W. T. Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. John Stephens and their guest, Miss Ball of Iowa, and Mrs. M. E. Smith. Others present not members of the class were Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Killion, Mr. and Mrs. Calla Harman, Mr. and Mrs. John McGuire, Mr. and Mrs. Orin Null, Misses Edith and Esther Pfeiffer, David and Fred Pfeiffer.

Met With Mrs. Wilderman. The Music department of the Twentieth Century club met at the home of Mrs. T. L. Wilderman on Monday afternoon. The program numbers consisted of a paper on "In the Child's Opera Shop," by Mrs. E. G. Orear. Two vocal numbers, "A Cradle Song," and "If I Were To Be," both by Mrs. Jessie Gaynor, were sung by Mrs. H. L. Raines, who substituted for Mrs. Ralph Eversole. "The Dance of the Elves," by Kroger, was played by Miss Mae Orear. A symposium on the lives of the composers of the afternoon's study was conducted by Mrs. Bernice Harris, assisted by Miss Brownie Toel, Mrs. Leslie Dean and Mrs. William Wallis, Jr. A piano number "A Canzonetta," by Jones, was given by Miss Audrey Howendobler, who also played a delinquent number, "Old Kentucky Home," which she was unable to be present to give at a previous meeting. Two vocal numbers, "The Kiss" and "Memories," by Kreiser, were sung by Mrs. Ferdinand Townsend, who substituted for Miss Jennie Garrett.

"In Old Colonial Days." The Civic Improvement League of Graham which we all know is a woman's organization, gave a charming entertainment Saturday night in the old exchange building there under the general caption of "In Old Colonial Days." The entertainment was planned to be given on Washington's birthday, but a traveling show had secured the hall ahead of the league and they had to give way to it. The severe cold of last Saturday night kept many from attending, but the league expects to repeat the entertainment, as it took so well there is absolute demand for it. All the participants were perfectly costumed for their parts, and it proved one of the most beautiful entertainments Graham has had. The program opened with a pantomime, "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," by Miss Laura Taylor, who was draped in red, white and blue bunting. Miss Glola Eckles then gave a recitation, "Martha Washington." This was followed by 3-year-old Loyce Miller, who was certainly the prettiest, daintiest, quaintest little Colonial lady one ever beheld in most complete costume, with long train, powdered hair and all, and she so sweetly, bravely and earnestly said that although she could not be a Washington she would be a woman good and true, that for the time, at least, everybody felt that Washington was not near so much account after all, for lo! here was this little woman. Several tableaux were given with recitation by Miss Myrtle Bond as follows: "Washington and His Hatchet," "Washington and the Soldier," "Betsy Ross Making the First Flag," "The Inauguration of Washington," and these were followed by dancing the minuet by the chorus of children who sang "The Virginia Riscocrats" earlier in the evening. All were in costume and performed their parts with so much charm and grace they were the pride of those who had the entertainment in charge. They were Alice Weller, Taylor Adkins, Hazel Waugh, Selwyn Adkins, Gene Kauffman, Marceline Crawford, Maxine Miller, Dan Mowrey, Otto Kerr, Vera Long, Loyce Miller and Edward Crawford. A little Colonial play entitled "Penelope" was also given with this cast of characters: Penelope, a Quaker maid, Marie Rond;

John Weatherford, an American soldier, Elwood Miller, a British major, Dale Baubitts; a Hessian soldier, Otto Kerr; LaVerne Welling was the colored bodyguard who rescued the British major. The entertainment closed with a recitation, "A Modern Washington," by Adolph Mowrey. The stage settings and decorations were splendidly arranged and in keeping with the program.

Battle Is Fought Across International Boundary Line.

Douglas, Ariz., March 4.—Four dead Mexican soldiers and an unknown number of wounded were taken to Agua Prieta from the point on the international border, five miles from here, where the troops of the Ninth cavalry, United States army, fought a thirty-minute battle with Mexican regulars. More than 2,000 shots were fired by the American troops and it is estimated that fully as many were fired by the Mexicans. None of the Americans was hit.

SUIT AGAINST THREAD TRUST

Court Is Asked to Order Disintegration of Combine.

Trenton, N. J., March 4.—The so-called thread trust was attacked by the federal government in a civil anti-trust suit filed, seeking the dissolution of the alleged attempted monopoly by the "Coates interests" of Great Britain of the thread trade of the United States, including that of the American Thread company, itself a consolidation of fourteen American companies.

The petition, signed by Attorney General Wickersham, was filed by United States Attorney Vreeland.

Story of Forty Thousand-Dollar Loss Puzzles Police.

Chicago, March 4.—Mrs. Mabel Miller, wife of a real estate dealer of San Antonio, Tex., whose mysterious loss of more than $40,000, presumably either by robbery or accident, stirred the police of Evanston, a suburb, to an extended investigation, left the hospital, to which she had been taken when found dazed and injured, and her present whereabouts is as much of a mystery as that of the large sum of money which has so strangely disappeared.

Deadlock Over Battleships.

Washington, March 4.—Another effort to secure an agreement by the house to the senate amendment to the naval appropriation bill providing for two battleships and thus break the deadlock in conference on the measure failed early this morning. The house conferees reported a disagreement and Representative Foss of Illinois moved that the house agree to the two battleship proposition. Majority Leader Underwood led the debate against the two-battleship amendment. On a roll call the house voted to insist on its one-battleship provision, 168 to 144.

Bank Cashier Pleads Guilty.

Washington, March 4.—Abram L. Beavers, former cashier of the First National bank of Highbridge, N. J., who confessed to taking $129,000 of the bank's money, pleaded guilty in the United States court. He will be sentenced two weeks hence.

BOWLING RECORD IS BROKEN

New Mark for All Events Made by Herrmann of Cleveland.

Toledo, March 4.—Another American Bowling congress record was broken when Eddie Herrmann of the Lincoln five-man team from Cleveland, O., totaled 1,972 pins, which makes a new mark for all events.

The former record was held by Thomas Haley of Detroit, who made 1,961 in that city in 1910. In the two-man event H. Feigenhauer and Eddie Herrmann of Cleveland went into third place, with a total of 1,212. J. Davies and P. McKee are fifth.

Gotch to Meet Le Marin.

Duluth, March 4.—April 23 has been named as the prospective date for a meeting between Frank A. Gotch and Constant Le Marin for the world's heavyweight wrestling championship.

Miss Mabel Miller and her cousin, Wilbur Officer of Hunter's Hot Springs, Mont., went to Kansas City Saturday evening for a week-end visit with friends.

Keeps Your Stove "Always Ready for Company"

on your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove. Go to a can from your hardware or stove dealer. It is so easy to use that any other stove polish you have ever used before, your dealer is sure to refund your money. But we feel sure you will agree with the thousands of up-to-date women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the "best stove polish ever made."

Be sure to get the genuine. Black Silk Stove Polish costs you no more than the ordinary kind. Keep your grates, registers, fenders and stove pipes bright and free from rusting by using BLACK SILK AIR-DRYING ENAMEL. Brush with each can of enamel only. Use BLACK SILK METAL POLISH for silver, nickel, tinware or brass. It works quickly, brightly and leaves a brilliant surface. It has no equal for use on automobiles.

How a Housewife With Intelligence Kept Herself From Drifting Into a Dull, Old Woman.

A woman who has brought up a big family on a small income, yet has managed to keep mentally alert, says it is due to a Half Hour Club.

This club has as its fixed rule that half an hour each day must be spent in solid reading. There was a leeway of 24 hours, after that there was a fine of five cents each day for failure to get through the prescribed reading.

The woman who told of this club says: "No one knows what it has meant to me. When you are the one woman in a family of boys, have a bushel basket of stockings to darn weekly, six children to sew for, lessons to be heard, it is a big temptation to stop reading, entirely or to fritter spare minutes on novels. That half hour a day of solid reading has kept me up with the times, has rested my body and stimulated my brain, and, best of all, it has kept me from drifting into a dull old woman, of whom my sons might love, but would pity for her ignorance."

Especially if you live in a small town is such a club of importance. It is easy to stagnate, unless a conscious effort is made. The winter season is the time to start such a club among your neighbors. Do not be content with planning a half-hour reading daily for yourself. You will never hold it to without the stimulus of companionship and the broadening interest of the fortnightly meetings.

An alleged new bacilli treatment for consumption, an alleged discovery of a Dr. Friedmann, which has been widely exploited by a newspaper syndicate, is discredited by the Journal of the American Medical association. It is asserted that these living bacilli derived from some kind of a turtle must be injected deep into the muscles of the patient. The preparation of the remedy is secret. "The use of the fluid," says the Journal, "is probably not without danger. There is not sufficient warrant for any other attitude toward Friedmann's treatment of tuberculosis than one of critical neutrality and judicious skepticism."

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Corum writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with womanly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and, from the first day, it seemed to help."

I had almost lost my reason, but, thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommend it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it."

Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health.

Fifty years' successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women.

In every community, there live some who have been benefited by Cardui. The beneficial effects of this time tested woman's remedy, soon show themselves in many different ways.

Try it.
